We met Famous William and he told us about his life story. He's a Nigerian boy who migrated to Italy in search of a better life. He told us about his terrible journey and all the difficulties he faced. He walked through a desert for three days without food and with very little water and he saw most of his friends dying along the way.

He described sailing across the sea and how it was dangerous because he didn't feel safe, he didn't know how to swim and they didn't have life jackets. When he arrived in Italy his life continued to be difficult; he lost a leg, he was imprisoned (apparently for no reason), but he never lost his faith in God.

Fortunately he met a very kind and generous Sicilian family and now he's perfectly integrated and works making arancine at "N'arancina speciale" with his host family and we had the opportunity to taste these arancine at school and they were delicious.

He also told us that his hobby is music and he's a very good rapper.
